

ROBOTICS AWARD 2019

The prize for applied robotics solutions

For the ninth time now HANNOVER MESSE is teaming up with trade journal Industrieanzeiger and the Robotation Academy to sponsor the ROBOTICS AWARD.

Who can enter?

Entry is open to all commercial enterprises and institutions in Germany and other countries. You do not have to be an exhibitor at HANNOVER MESSE.

What kind of solutions can be entered for the award?

The judges are looking for products, projects and technological innovations that have made a contribution to robot-aided solutions in industrial automation and/or mobile robots or autonomous systems.

What are the benefits for me?

- Extensive press coverage
- Wide media reach through the combined resources of HANNOVER MESSE, Industrieanzeiger and the Robotation Academy
- The three top-placed entrants will receive prizes as well as a whole series of press and communication services supplied by HANNOVER MESSE, Industrieanzeiger and the Robotation Academy
- The prize presentation takes place at a special press conference

Prize presentation

The presentation of the AWARD takes place at a special press conference to be held on 2 April 2019 at 3.30 p.m. at the Automation Forum. The AWARD will be presented by Dr. Bernd Althusmann, Lower Saxony Minister for Economic Affairs, Labour, Transport and Digitization, and Dr. Jochen Köckler, Chairman of the Board at Deutsche Messe.

The selection process

A panel of scientific experts will draw up an initial shortlist of entries. The prizewinners will then be chosen by our own independent jury.
